Digitize your Assets, Archive for the Future

Film and prints from photographic archives are becoming increasingly susceptible to fading and decay. Scanning services for these types of assets have historically been either low quality or prohibitively expensive. DigitalFusion is resetting the standard for quality and price, and now brings large volume high quality archive scanning within reach of collections worldwide. With 20 years of experience, you can trust that you'll have the best quality in the market.

PROCESS:

- All DF scans start at 120 MB (up to 11.5K pixels long dimension)
- Highest Image Quality Capture: DigitalFusion believes in capturing the highest possible image quality in terms of resolution, tonality, sharpness, and color. Our use of high resolution sensors and precision optics ensure that no detail gets missed and that your collections are archived to the highest level of quality for future use and preservation.
- Raw Workflow Process: DigitalFusion's RAW file capture process retains RAW data and all the relevant information necessary for processing and reprocessing. This ensures a future-proof workflow and a file that can be used time and time again as needed as software performance develops and improves.
- Conservation Handling of Assets: Maintaining the safety of your materials is our top-most concern. Our technique appropriately handle objects with the care they deserve.
- Cleaning and Re-packing Service: We offer individual frame cleaning to remove surface artifacts on the film for the best possible scan. We also offer a repacking service to re-house those assets that can be placed in acid free paper or archival containers for greater longevity.
